JANESVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 10.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR.

In conformity with law, I, William D. Hoard, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do designate

Wednesday, April 30th Next,

as Arbor Day, and recommend that all public schools and colleges of the state observe the same by suitable exercises, "having for their object the imparting of knowledge of horticulture, in the department known as arboriculture, and the adornment of schools and public grounds."

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the great seal of the state of Wisconsin to by GREAT SEAL affixed. Done at the capitol, in the city of Madison, this 15th day of March, A. D. 1890.

WILLIAM D. HOARD.

By the Governor:
ERNST G. TIEME, Secretary of State.

HE IS NOT CONSISTENT.

The Rev. M. J. F. Albrecht, pastor of the Lutheran church in Janesville, sends the Milwaukee Sentinel a communication, in which he denies the statement made by a correspondent of the Chicago Herald, that there is no English taught in the Lutheran parochial school over which he has charge. In denying the statement made in the Herald dispatch, he says:

From the very founding of the Lutheran parochial school until this hour English has always been taught; and let me add, the scholars have not been spattered only with a little English, but have been taught thoroughly reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and United States history. Despite of this fact, which can be testified to by hundreds of Janesville citizens, it takes a brazen brow to proclaim through the columns of so vastly read papers as The Milwaukee Sentinel and The Chicago Herald, that we were opposed to the Bennett law because no English was taught in our school.

Mr. Albrecht, strangely enough, then goes on to condemn the Bennett law. He practices the principles of the law, as they apply to the teaching of English, and believes in a compulsory educational law when he lived in Germany, but in this country, which he has adopted as his own, and in which he likely expects to spend the remainder of his days, he is an enemy of compulsory education and of the law which merely seeks to help a child to an education which will make him a thorough American.

It is strange indeed that Mr. Albrecht showed these two reasons for his determined opposition to the Bennett law:

"First, because it infringes the personal liberty of parents to educate their children, and, secondly, because it tends to rob us of our religious liberty."

Did Mr. Albrecht believe in the first of these reasons when he lived in Germany? Of course he didn't; and the land of Luther, and it is the crowning glory of the land too, has the most absolut compulsory law of any country in Europe. If such a law is good for Germany why is it to be opposed in the United States?

Take the second reason, "because it tends to rob us of our religious liberty." How does the Bennett law do that? The law says nothing about religion in the schools. It does not command that English shall be taught in the parochial schools. It does not prescribe what shall be taught in such schools. The Lutherans and the German Catholics may teach all the religion they please in their private schools, and the Bennett law cannot affect them. All the educational law of Wisconsin seeks to do is to insist that a child shall receive at least twelve weeks' instruction in the English language in a year, and this instruction may be given whenever the parents pleases. There is perfect freedom in this feature of the law, and inasmuch as this is the case, why do the Lutherans or any one else object to it? If Mr. Albrecht will take the trouble to carefully read the law he will see that in his second objection to it, he is fatally without reasons.

The Bennett law has no more to do with religious teaching in parochial schools, than Bismarck has with the common school system of our state.

ABOUT METHODS AND PRINCIPLES.

It has been somwhat an unfortunate year for republicans all over the state of Illinois; in Chicago remarkably so. No great questions have been up for settlement no great upheaval of public opinion on purely local matters has been visible, nor have the democratic victories been attributed to republican apathy; the polls have been as well attended as in any other off year. There are as many republicans now in Illinois as in 1880; indeed, we believe that there are more. The city of Chicago is as soundly republican at heart as it ever was. But, all the same, the democrats have been making gains at most of the elections in cities and counties. The peculiarity of the situation is that men who have always been, and who say that they yet are, republicans make no concealment of their having voted with the democrats.—Inter Ocean.

It is not difficult to explain the meaning of the last sentence of the foregoing article from the Inter Ocean. There is a significance in it that means something and the sooner the republican managers understand that we live in a progressive age and that the motto of the republicans is "Forward and Onward," the better.

The republican losses in Chicago and some other cities in Illinois were caused by bad nominations, and the defeats resulting therefrom were well-deserved. In Chicago, for instance, the republicans made some bad ward nominations. They were of so doubtful a character that republicans were justified in bolting. The Chicago Journal, whose republicanism is as sound and longstanding as that of any republican journal in that city, refused to support some of the republican nominees; and so did the Tribune. In this opposition to bad nominations, both papers acted wisely. The time never was, is not now, and never should come, when the republican party as a whole can be made to support men regardless of their fitness for office.

The republican party is made up of the intelligence of this country. In the states and cities where the greater number of school houses are found, and where thrift and intelligence predominate, there will be found republican majorities. It is quite natural that in a party made up in this way that there will be more independence, more carefulness in voting and more wisdom demanded in making nominations, than will be found in the democratic party, and therefore when the republicans make an unfit nomination in a large city like Chicago, and the democrats make a good one, the republican is going to get left, and he ought to meet with just such a fate. There is plenty of good material in the republican party, and it is always wisest and safest to draw it out, and if this is not done, it should disappoint no republican if defeat follows.

The democrats have the advantage of the republicans in the local and state elections. They hold together in an election with more tenacity than do the republicans no matter how questionable their nominations may be. There are a few exceptions to this rule, but as a general thing the republicans suffer more disastrously by bad nominations than do the democrats.

The Inter Ocean has been in the habit of supporting all kinds of candidates and no matter how unworthy they were it has called them good. The effect of this kind of journalism it is beginning to deplore. Let the republicans everywhere make the best nominations possible, and it will meet with far fewer defeats.

The New York Voice charged that the Philadelphia papers were paid last year for opposing the prohibition amendment to the Constitution when it was before the people at a special election. Messrs. McClure, Childs, and Singerly, three of the leading editors, pronounce this a vicious and venomous lie. If these gentlemen should undertake to correct all the false notes sounded by the Voice they would have to resign their positions and do nothing else.—Exchange.

It would seem from the course of the Voice that it would rather slander prominent public men who are not third party men, than tell the truth about them. Not only have the editors of the Philadelphia Times, the Ledger, and the Record, denied ever receiving a dollar from the anti-prohibition committee of Pennsylvania, but the chairman of that committee says he never gave any of the three papers named money to oppose the amendment. Neither did he have any dealings with chairman Quay, the republican national committeeman. How much truth there is in the statement as it concerns Quay, the Gazette does not know, but the chances are that the chairman of the anti-prohibition committee tells the truth; and the Voice lies. On a question of that kind it would not tell the truth if it had an opportunity.

The Albany, New York, Journal:—"The incident of the election in Milwaukee did not possess the violent characteristics of the dynamite operations in Haymarket square, Chicago, but its significance will not be lost on the American people. We have one language, one flag, and one constitution; and all three must be maintained in their integrity. Without reference to the foreign nationalities which our ancestors once represented, we are to-day Americans, and, as such, while welcoming all foreigners who from worthy and proper motives desire to cast their lot with us, we must insist that the current of Americanism flow unimpeded through every vein and artery. The Milwaukee incident should not be lost on thoughtful Americans."

An item from New York: A committee of the Methodist Episcopal conference in its report repudiated the recent decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin regarding the reading of the bible in the public schools as "un-American and pagan and a menace to the perpetuity of our institutions." It held that it was the duty of Christian citizens to deny that the bible was sectarian, and to claim for it a place wherever the state attempts to educate youth for the duties of citizenship.

Double Tragedy at Cairo.

CAIRO, Ill., April 10.—Allen Thomas, a colored teamster, shot his wife in front of their home last night. He then entered the house, placed the pistol against his neck and fired, inflicting a fatal wound. The double tragedy was the result of the woman's conduct with another colored man.

BERLIN, April 10.—A railway train was thrown down an embankment at Frankfort to-day and twenty-seven workmen were injured.

HE ROBBED THE BANK.

The Cashier Takes the Bank's Cash And Flees to Canada With a Pretty Woman.

WM. BARTHOLOMEW HANGED FOR MURDER AT EASTON.

Two Criminals Pay the Extreme Penalty For Their Misdeeds—One Day's Crimes.

EASTON, Pa., April 10.—William Bartholomew was hanged at 10:34 o'clock to-day.

He was pronounced dead in fifteen minutes. He refused to eat any breakfast or to dress, and was hanged in his prison suit. His last words were declarations of his innocence, mixed with curses and blasphemy and demands that his paramour and Detective Johnson be also hanged.

Bartholomew was convicted of the murder of Aaron W. Dilliard Friday morning, Sept. 6, 1889. The crime was at first involved in mystery. Mrs. Dilliard's story was that she had been aroused by a noise at the chicken coop and had sent her husband to learn the cause when he was fatally shot by some unknown person. Suspicion soon settled upon Bartholomew, who had for years been intimate with Mrs. Dilliard, and he was arrested. Two hours after the funeral of her husband Mrs. Dilliard made a full confession to the Rev. Mr. Smith, saying that Bartholomew and she had arranged the murder of her husband that she might marry her paramour. She was to arouse Dilliard, send him out with a lantern, and direct him to a cherry tree where Bartholomew was to be in readiness to shoot him. This plan was carried out exactly. Bartholomew was found guilty Sept. 20 of murder in the first degree, the jury being out but one hour. Mrs. Dilliard was also convicted and sentenced to death, but her sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 9.—Alfred Andrews was hanged at 11:30 this morning at this place.

Andrews was convicted of the brutal murder of a young girl named Clara Price, whom he had first assaulted, Nov. 27, 1889, on the road leading from Snow Shoe to Karthaus. His victim was about 19 years old and more than ordinarily handsome. Her body was found lying in the road with bullet holes in her head, neck, and breast.

ROBBED THE BANK.

Cashier Tweeton of the Fosston, (Minn.) National Bank Takes $50,000.

FOSSTON, Minn., April 10.—R. G. Tweeton, cashier of the Fosston National bank, and one of the social lions of Polk county, has fled to Canada accompanied, it is alleged by a pretty young woman named Esther Ellerton, who was formerly queen regnant of the half-world at Winnipeg, but has latterly made her home at Fosston.

A partial examination of the bank's books shows that they have been systematically doctored by the fugitive cashier and also that large sums of money have been misappropriated by him. The amount of Tweeton's peculations can not as yet be ascertained, but rumors place the amount at $50,000.

The bank will not lose much, as Tweeton's bondsmen are wealthy farmers and will make good his stealings. Tweeton and his paramour were last seen at Fargo, and it has been ascertained that they purchased tickets there for Victoria, B. C., via Winnipeg, hence they are beyond the reach of American law.

GOES DOWN FOR LIFE.

A Sixteen-Year-Old Boy Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Life.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 10.—Harry Ploise Lyons, the 16-year-old murderer of Peter Peterson, will pay the penalty of his crime with a life sentence in the penitentiary. The jury reached a verdict shortly after 7 o'clock last night, but were kept looked up until this morning. It took seven ballots to decide the matter, there being no difference as to the guilt, but one of the jurors voting at first for as low a term as fourteen rears, and it was only the extreme youth of the prisoner and possibly the forebearance of the State in not asking for the death penalty that saved his neck from the halter.

When the verdict was opened and read at 10 o'clock this morning, the youthful prisoner did not move a muscle, and after a motion for a new trial and he was being taken back to jail he remarked in a cool matter-of-fact tone to the bailiff:

"Well, I'm in luck."

SHOT A SOLDIER DEAD.

Private Patten Killed by Sergeant Coleman—Attempted Lynching.

FORT RILEY, Kan., April 10.—Sergeant Coleman last evening shot and instantly killed Private Patten while bringing him to the fort. Patten had been on a spree and tried to escape. He was ordered to stop, but kept on, when Coleman shot him through the breast. Much excitement prevails at the fort and the soldiers attempted to lynch Coleman. He is under guard.

Their Game Didn't Work.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, April 10.—On the night of March 23 the store of R. Klouchein, at Malvern, was robbed. Some of the goods were found in the possession of George Gerspacher and J. Sullivan, two young men of Council Bluffs, and they were arrested. They secured bail and began searching for the two men from whom they purchased the goods, claiming they had not stolen, but had bought them. Yesterday the two men were found in Omaha and brought to Iowa soil. They give their names as Connelly and Wilson.

Killed Himself Without Known Cause.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., April 10.—W. Honfeldt, a German farm-hand working for Mr. Footcamp, six miles north of Syracuse, committed suicide this morning. He went to work as usual and was found a few hours later dead, with a pistol at his side and a bullet through his brain. No cause is known.

Suicide of a Congressman's Son.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 10.—At the Horner Military academy at Oxford, Cadet Arthur W. Cowles, aged eighteen, son of Congressman Cowles, committed suicide by shooting himself. The young man had been in poor health for some time, and was disposed to be melancholy.

Preferred Death to Bachelorhood.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10. — Peter Weishaupt, aged 33 years, was found hanging from a tree at Leedale, this morning. Some time ago he joined the Economites, and has been despondent because, according to the laws of the society, he could not marry.

Was He Killed by His Family?

FAULKETON, S. D., April 10.—News has been received here that the body of Eckardt was found in a well on a neighbor's farm about two miles south of the scene of the alleged attempt. The sheriff, coroner, and a large number of citizens have gone out to Freeman's place, where the body was found, for an investigation. It is thought that the family of the dead man will be taken into custody at once, as there are good reasons to believe they killed him and manufactured the story of his attack on them and subsequent flight.

READY FOR THE FRAY.

Both Factions of the Evangelical Church in Session at Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 10.—The two factions of the Evangelical Annual Conference of Illinois held preliminary meetings in this city last night. The meetings were called to consider the troubles between Bishops Bowman and Esher and their followers on the one side and Bishop Dubs and his followers on the other.

The Dubs faction met at Farwell hall. The lower floor was filled with men, women, and children, while the stage held about fifty ministers and prominent laymen. Frank Pfunder presided. Speeches were made by T. L. Haines and Prof. G. F. Ratzweilier in English and by H. Marquart and T. G. Steinke in German and by Bishop Dubs in both German and English. The bishop was greeted with prolonged cheers. He is a man of magnificent physique and commanding appearance. After a speech in German he spoke in English. He related the trouble at the Buffalo conference and stated that what the opposing side called the minority party was in reality the true and loyal clergy and laity and the real majority party.

He presided over the conference when the division came and counseled conciliation, but the so-called majority insisted upon pushing the others to the wall. The English-speaking conference of Nebraska had been expelled because they would not let Bishop Esher preside, and the Iowa conference would be because they refused to be presided over by Bishop Bowman. The opposition had grown so malignant that yesterday they went so far as to circulate the report that his wife was about to bring a suit for divorce against him. He laughed at the idea. He hoped, however, that a rupture in the church would be avoided.

A long series of resolutions denouncing a circular issued by the opposing faction was unanimously passed.

The Esher-Bowman faction held its massmeeting at the Wisconsin street church. Mathias Obergfell presided, with about sixty vice-presidents. Both floors of the church were filled and two meetings were held. Speeches were made by J. Wingate, Isaac Hoffert, Henry Miller, and the Rev. Frank Neitz. The tenor of the speeches was that Bishops Esher and Bowman were still the regularly constituted authorities of the church and must be recognized.

They claimed to have the pledged support of eighteen out of the twenty-one conferences of the church. They deplored the existing factions, and claimed that the opposition were rebels.

MISS KENNY'S SLAYER DEAD.

Crazy Williams Succumbs to Wounds Inflicted by Himself.

MEDFORD, Wis., April 10.—Capt. Wilford Williams, called "Crazy Williams," who killed Maggie Pritchard Kenny, niece of Judge Texton of this city and then put three bullets into his own body, died here yesterday. Williams' mother lived at Bridgewater, near Halifax, N. S.

He had his reason till within a short time of his death and answered all questions. He said he was violently in love with Miss Kenny. The father of Miss Kenny, Frank Pritchard, lives at Winneconne, near Oshkosh. He is now here, and to-morrow the body of Miss Kenny will be taken to Poygan for interment by the side of her mother and sister. Miss Kenny was just 16 years old and very beautiful.

COAL-MINERS MAY STRIKE.

Prospect of a Suspension of Work in Illinois Mines May 1.

JOLIET, Ill., April 10.—One of the most prominent coal operators of Illinois, passing through Joliet to attend a meeting of Illinois coal operators at Ottawa, expressed the opinion that there would be a general strike among coal-miners May 1. He said the miners were well organized, all the mines having joined the union but Murphysboro, which would soon join. Grape Creek and Scranton were the last to join the union in their demand for 10 to 17½ cents per ton advance and eight hours a day. It is believed a compromise will be effected. The meeting at Ottawa is to discuss the situation.

In a Strange Trance.

PARIS, April 10.—Cases of a new trance disease, called by the Italians "nona," are becoming frquent and sometimes fatal. A farmer in the village of Uriage was taken with the disease and slept four days, during which time he was like one dead, all efforts to arouse him having failed. At the end of four days he suddenly awoke in a state of great exhaustion and rapidly sank and died two hours afterward. Medical experts from Paris will make a post-mortem examination.

Insects Destroying Wheat.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 10.—Advices from northern Texas say that 75 per cent of the wheat crop in the counties of Cook, Grayson, Collins, Denton, Wise and Montague have been destroyed by insects. One of these creatures is very similar to the northern chinch-bug and the other is the common lady-bug. The latter is the most destructive, and is not only destroying wheat, but is ravaging oats and corn and even attacking cotton.

CATARRH

Do Not Trifle With Disease.

We have the only known certain and reliable method for the cure of Nasal Catarh Throat and Lung disease; it is regarded by the best judges as being the most complete treatment ever devised. Indeed, there does not appear to be anything lacking in its perfect adaptation to these diseases in all their loathsome, painful and dangerous developments. Each case is examined into carefully and critically, and the whole treatment compounded to meet the wants of each individual. To this fact alone much of our success is due, and we think no case is incurable when our questions are properly answered. Fifteen years of constant practice with thousands of patients all over the country have enabled us to bring the application of our remedies to the highest point of perfection. Do not trifle, then, with some cheap so called "Cure" which at best cannot afford but temporary relief, (while the roots of the vile disease are left to strike deeper and deeper), but be in earnest and be thorough, or do nothing! You have been years in contracting the disease; you can not be rid of it in a day, or with one application of any medicine.

The Experience of Others.

On account of so many patients having been swindled by unprincipled quacks and pretenders, who flood the country with their advertisements, we deem it only fair that every one that wishes should have the opportunity to ascertain whether we are able to accomplish all that we claim; and for this purpose we add a few of the many hundreds of unsolicited certificates that have been sent to us by grateful patients; almost any of whom will doubtless respond to any inquiry by letter, if accompanied by a stamp to pay postage. Having been cured themselves, they will doubtless be willing to let the afflicted know where they may find certain relief.

Mrs. L. M. Beckham, of Birmingham, Ala., under date of March 28, 1889, writes: "I have been under your treatment for several months, and have found great relief. I still use your medicine when taking fresh cold.

J. C. Pierson, of Minerva, Ohio, under date of April 11, 1889, writes: "I took a thorough course of your remedies for Catarrh, about six years ago, and have never been troubled since."

Mrs. J. W. Chandler, of Milton, N. C., under date of April 2, 1889, writes: "I used your remedies several years ago and have received great benefit. I think your Balm a great medicine."

Mrs. Rev. R. E. Sherrill, of Graham, Texas under date of April 30, 1889, writes: "My husband and I have induced various persons to try your remedies for Catarrh, and all have been pleased and benefitted."

Rev. S. W. LaGrange, of Wells, Minn., under date of October 6th, 1889 writes: "The inhaler and Balm came all right. Began to use it this a. m. It seems quite natural, though I have not used it for ten years. My Catarrh is cured and does not trouble me now. I shall never cease to be grateful to you for the benefit I received from your Catarrh remedies."

W. J. Rawlins, of Avalon, Mo., under date of October 21, 1888, writes "Ten years ago, when living in Mexia, Texas, I ordered your remedies. At that time I was seventeen years of age and weighed only 87 pounds; was a walking skeleton, and in the state of Texas for my health. Your remedies soon gave me relief, caused me to sleep well, feel well, and prolonged my life to be a happy man of 27 years of age and weighing 160 pounds.

Wesley Thomas, of Westover, Md., under date of October 21, 1889, writes: "I am convinced that your remedies did me a world of good. I do not fail to recommend them at every available opportunity."

W. G. Ballenger, of West Mansfield Ohio, under date of November 15, 1889, writes: "I commenced treating under your directions about four years ago, and at the end of six or eight months considered myself cured after about 20 years of incessant suffering."

J. B. L. Terrell, of Gleason, Texas, writes: "I sent you my certificate some time since, stating I was cured and had had no return of the disease. I can yet testify the same, and will answer all inquiries."

Mrs. S. E. Freeman, of 516 Pine St., Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have used your cure, and it has been of the greatest benefit to me. I believe it to be the best remedy known for Catarrh."

Mr. E. Furguson, of 23 Prospect St., Worcester, Mass., writes: "The remedies have helped me as nothing else has done before, and I have tried many so called Catarrh cures."

Mr. John Cavanaugh, of Monrovia, Cal., writes: "While living in Texas I used your Catarrh remedy. I now wish to say that I am a sound as a dollar, and owe my good health to your medicines."

Mr. A. D. Dunham, Burlington, Vermont writes "Some years since I obtained your treatment for Catarrh, and was entirely cured. I now want some of the Cold Air Inhaling Balm to break up a heavy cold.

Rev. P. W. Free, Waterford, Pa., writes: "About ten years since I obtained your Catarrh remedy, used it, was cured, and have had no return of the disease".

Mr. Wm. Dewey, of El Dorado, Iowa, writes: "I am one of your old patients, having used the medicine some seven years since, and was permanently cured."

Mr. F. W. Vesey, Waco, Texas, writes: "Your Catarrh Specific cured me about six year ago."

Mr. Henry A. Smith, Springport, Mich., writes: "After using the treatment only two weeks, I feel so much better that I can not praise your remedy enough."

Col. Geo. W. Williams, Boston, Mass., and Washington, D. C. writes: "I shall never use any other remedy (Inhaling Balm) for cold but the unexampled discovery which you offer to the suffering public, nor could I conscientiously commend any other remedy for Catarrh than the one you have blessed me with."

L. C. Hoppel, Dupoint, Ind., writes: "A number of years since you cured me of Nasal Catarrh, I now wish you to do the same for a friend".

Mrs. S. Masters, Thorntown, Ind., writes: "I took your treatment for Catarrh several years ago and was cured. I now wish some of the Balm to use as a preventative and cure of fresh colds."

Mrs. R. Hasfield, 315 N. Emporia St., Wichita Kansas, writes: "About five years ago I took a full treat for Catarrh, and was completely cured."

Mr. C. C. Jones, Weatherfield, Texas, writes: "After suffering with Catarrh ten years, which had partially destroyed my hearing and smell, I was cured by your remedy, and can recommend it highly to all suffering with the disease."

Home Treatment Childs' Treatment for Catarrh, and all diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, can be taken at home with perfect ease and safety, by the patient. We especially desire to treat those who have tried other remedies without success. A full statement of home treatment and cost will be sent on application.

BOARD OF TRADE MEN FIGHT THE BUTTERWORTH BILL.

Mr. Counselman of Chicago Defends Puts and Calls—Other News From the Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The uproar raised by Ben Butterworth over trading in options promises to make a lively contention in the House when his bill is brought up. The arguments in favor of it are plausible, and, with the exception of a few city members from Chicago, New York, and Cincinnati, it appears to be to nobody's interest to oppose it. The representatives from the country districts, particularly from the agricultural States of the West, are in favor of the measure and are going to vote for it.

It is probable that the bill will have a majority of the House unless an extended debate changes the general opinion regarding the bill. It will come up for consideration within a week or ten days if the tariff bill is not reported. Congressman Adams, of Chicago, is preparing an argument in opposition to it and Charles Counselman and Murray Nelson are here for the Chicago board of trade.

Mr. Counselman made an argument before the House committee on agriculture against the bill. He said he indorsed both in letter and spirit the provisions of the first section of the bill forbidding any privileged or class dealing. That was a rule of the board of trade. The second section, which forbids the dealing by any one but the producer and the purchaser direct from him, in any article not in the possession of the seller, wiped out of existence the business of himself and all legitimate dealers as well as the illegitimate.

Mr. Counselman was asked if he could suggest any way by which the illegitimate speculation could be proscribed without affecting the legitimate, and said he could not without time to consider the subject. The passage of the bill, Mr. Counselman said, would damage the farmer more than it could possibly aid him. If the producer should sell direct to the consumer the farmers of Kansas and Nebraska, instead of receiving 10 and 15 cents a bushel for corn this winter, which was little enough, would not have received 5 cents a bushel.

There must be middle-men to handle the crops between the producer and the consumer. He advanced large sums of money to farmers on their crops, relieving present necessities and enabling them to hold their grain for a rise in prices. The trouble that was thought to be alleviated by the bill arose from the dealings in bucket-shops, which were in existence all over the land, and whose proprietors made their livelihood by a reduction in prices. To effect this reduction the combined bucket-shop power sought to influence the prices on the floor of the exchanges in the country, and it had been successful. As far as it could the Chicago Board of Trade had been fighting bucket-shops, which the speaker likened to faro banks, the proprietor being the dealer.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

Mr. Wilson Looking Up the Excursion-Ticket Question—Bills Passed.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Mr. Wilson of Iowa offered a resolution, which was agreed to, instructing the committee on inter-State commerce to inquire what additional legislation is necessary in respect to commutation and excursion tickets so as to prevent abuses now existing in regard to individuals and localities.

The House bill appropriating $75,000 to supply the deficiency occasioned by the defalcation in the office of the late sergeant-at-arms of the House was reported from the committee on appropriations without amendment and passed.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Montana contested election case and Mr. Pugh concluded his argument in favor of the Democratic claimants, Clark and McGinnis.

Mr. Turpie, also a member of the committee on privileges and elections, presented an argument on the same side of the question,

The matter was discussed at some length, but no action was taken. The consideration of the Chinese enumeration bill occupied the remainder of the session.

The House.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—On motion of Mr. Wade of Missouri, the Senate amendment was concurred in to the House bill to admit free of duty articles intended for the St. Louis exposition in 1890, which may be imported from the republic of Mexico and other Mexican republics and the Dominion of Canada.

Among the bills reported from committees and placed on the calendar were the following: House bill for a public building at Galesburg, Ill.; Senate bill to amend the third section of the Inter-State Commerce act.

FOR PROHIBITION STATES.

Senator Wilson's Bill to Keep Whisky Out of Iowa.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Senator Wilson, from the committee on interstate commerce, reported, with amendments, the bill to amend section 3 of the inter-state commerce act. The bill as amended provides that "any article of commerce, the manufacture or sale of which is prohibited within any state, shall not be transported or conveyed into such State; but this shall not be held to prohibit the transportation of such article of commerce to persons in such States authorized by the laws to receive the same, or through such State prohibiting the sale or manufacture thereof, to any other State or Territory in which such manufacture or sale is not prohibited." The report was ordered by a vote of 4 to 5.

Report on the Big Canal.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Secretary of War has transmitted to the House a report from Capt. Marshall, corps of engineers, upon the location of the Illinois and Mississippi canal, in compliance with the river and harbor act of Aug. 11 1888. Capt. Marshall reports that the detailed estimates for the construction of the canal will not differ materially from the estimate of $6,524,052 already made.

The World's Fair Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Senate World's fair sub-committee talked over the World's fair project for half an hour or more. No conclusion was reached. The sub-committee has received from Chicago letters and other documents bearing upon the amount and validity of the Chicago subscriptions, and will report the facts to the full committee on Friday morning. The question of the sufficiency of the subscriptions will be for the full committee to decide.

RANDALL IS DYING.

His Family Have but Little Hope That He Will Rally.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Congressman Randall's condition this morning is very much worse and is regarded as critical.

He has lost strength and seems to be gradually and rapidly sinking.

His family now admit that his condition is very grave and those who have watched the course of his disease fear he will not be able to rally from the present renewal of the complications.

LATER—The change for the worse occurred during the night and his survival for another twenty-four hours is considered improbable.

Assistant Secretary Moore Married.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—John B. Moore, Third Assistant Secretary of State, was married this morning to Miss Helen Frances Toland, niece of Mrs. Gen. Ricketts, at St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, in the presence of a large and distinguished company.

Approved by the President.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The President has approved the act providing for railroad bridges across the White river, Arkansas, and across the Missouri river in the county of Monona, Iowa.

BLOODY BATTLE.

Abe Cougle and Jimmy Dahoney, Heavy Weights, Fight Fifty-Four Rounds.

SHELBY, Ind., April 10.—Abe Cougle and Jimmy Dahoney, two Chicago pugilists, fought fifty-four bloody rounds this morning in a barn about a mile from this place. At the call of time for the fifty-fifth round both men were completely exhausted, and Otto Floto, the referee, declared the fight a draw. The decision was approved by the party of 300 sports who had come from Chicago to witness the mill.

The fight, which was one of the best contests seen in the vicinity of Chicago for some time, was for $500 a side. The gate receipts were to be divided, the winner taking 75 per cent, and the loser 25 per cent. Two ounce gloves were used according to the Marquis of Queensberry rules.

The match was made some time ago, and the men have been in training since. Cougle is a South Water street champion. Dahoney has been in the ring before, having been defeated by Neiland in a battle some years ago. It was after 2 o'clock this morning when they met in the ring. Otto Floto was chosen referee. "Reddy" Gallagher acted as second for Dahoney, while a well-known Chicago sport took charge in Cougle's corner. At the ring side were between 200 and 300 lovers of pugilism from Chicago, most of whom had paid $10 for the ticket and the "tip."

From the very start it was plain that both men were in deadly earnest and that the fight would be for blood. And it was. Each man seemed to be able to punish his adversary severely, but utterly powerless to protect himself. The result was that both fighters were terribly punished.

Cougle won first blood in the eleventh round and after that blood flowed freely from both men. Each led for the head and face and generally landed. The consequence was that Dahoney's head was swollen till it looked like a small washtub, and the left side of Cougle's face was out of all proportion from repeatedly stopping Dahoney's right.

The ring became slippery from the blood in the last rounds, and the men could scarcely keep their footing.

CALIFORNIA'S PRODUCTS.

Encouraging Reports on the Prospects for the Yield of Fruit and Grain.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 10.—The crop reports received by the California Associated press from all the grain and fruit growing counties in California show, on the whole, excellent prospects for the coming harvest, notwithstanding the fears entertained that the heavy rainfall during the last winter would have a detrimental effect. Wheat crops will be as good as three-quarters of last year's yield. The shortage is partially due to the change from grain to fruit cultivation. The prune-crop promises to be the best and the largest ever gathered. This is due to the increased number of orchards coming into bearing. The reports also show that a large number of new prune orchards were set out this spring. Peaches will reach more than the average crop. Apricots will yield a very light crop. Constant rains and cold winds rotted the buds. The marked feature shown by this year's fruit crop is the largely increased acreage being set out in olives. This fruit, which previously had figured in only three counties to any extent, is now being grown and planted in about twenty counties, and in all cases is reported to have a most promising outlook.

AFTER HE WAS DEAD.

Outburst of Human Kindness That Came Too Late to Help a Pauper.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., April 10, — A friendless negro octogenarian, named William Brown, a pauper, was found dead in his bed at a livery barn Monday night and was accorded elaborate funeral services yesterday.

Three clergymen and the president of the Young Men's Christian Association participated. Many leading citizens were present. The commander of the Grand Army post led the procession to the cemetery. Grand Army men acted as an escort and as pall-bearers.

The body was interred in a handsome casket lined with white satin. It had developed that Brown was a veteran of the war and served in Company F, Third United States heavy artillery.

Dr. Nausen's Polar Expedition.

LONDON, April 10.—The preparations of Dr. Nausen, the explorer of Greenland, for an expedition to the polar region are well advanced. He receives encouragement from scientific men everywhere and hopes for material assistance from the Norwegian government.

Raised the $2,000,000.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 10.—The committee of citizens appointed about a month ago to solicit subscriptions for a subsidy of $2,000,000 to secure a branch of the Hunt system of railroads to this city completed its labors last night, having raised the full amount required.

They Never Fail.

J. N. Harris, 3 Fulton Market, New York City, says:

"I have been using BRANDRETH'S PILLS for the last ten years: They are a wonderful medicine. There is nothing equal to them as Blood Purifiers and Liver Regulators. But I wish to state how remarkably they cure rheumatism, and how easily; I was affected by rhumatism of the legs. My business (wholesale fish dealer) naturally leads me to damp places. I was so bad I could not walk, and at night I suffered fearfully; I tried Balsams, Sarsaparillas and all kinds of tinctures, but they did me no good and I was afraid of being a cripple. I finally commenced using BRANDRETH'S PILLS. I took two every night for ten nights, then I began to improve. I continued taking them for forty days and I got entirely well. Now, whenever sick, I take BRANDRETH'S PILLS. They never fail.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS are the oldest, safest and best blood purifier and purgative know. They are purely vegetable, therefore harmless. They always produce the same effect. Other purgatives require increased doses and finally cease altogether. A course of one or two of Brandreth's Pills taken each night is a positive cure for constipation, headache and all bilious disorders.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

WIND STILL AT WORK.

FIERCE STORMS IN VARIOUS PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

Immense Destruction of Lives and Property in Ohio and Other States—Other Casualties.

AKRON, Ohio, April 10.—A terrific cyclone swept over Summit county Tuesday night, cutting a path twelve miles long and a quarter of a mile wide. It started in the northwestern end of the county and its path was southwesterly, nearly to the county line. The devastated district is in Sharon, Copley, Akron and Springfield townships. Frame houses were crushed like egg-shells and whirled end over end, brick buildings were scattered to the wind, and huge trees snapped off. People who saw it coming took refuge in their cellars when they had time, and others took their chances out of doors, clinging to the nearest staple object.

At Sharon two enormous black clouds swept toward each other from the north. No breath of air stirred for a few moments. Suddenly the clouds met with a fearful crash. Then the consolidated cloud began to whirl and approach the ground in a trail, which rapidly grew and lowered with an awful roar. All was darkness except for intermittent flashes of lightning which showed the air full of flying timbers and debris.

The greatest fury of the storm was felt in Sharon. The first victim was Matthew Bromley. He was trying to make his way from his barn to his house when the cloud descended, lifted him into the air, hurled him twenty rods, and deposited him among the falling timbers of his barn, which had been lifted from its foundation and whirled to pieces, leaving the horses standing on the ground floor unharmed. Bromley was crushed under the heavy beams, sustaining injuries from which he soon died.

On a knoll near by stood the large two-story frame house of Hugh Frank, with barns and outbuildings. Mr. and Mrs. Frank, who were in the house, heard the awful roar and rushed to the cellar. They never reached it. The house was torn into kindling-wood above their heads and borne away with the storm. Neighbors found Frank's dead body in the ditch across the road. He had been driven head-forward with such force that his head was buried in the earth. The body was shockingly mangled by contact with missiles in the air. Mrs. Frank was found in a wheat field thirty rods from where the house had stood, with several bones broken. She died several hours later.

N. C. Fullmor was milking a cow in his barn when the building was crushed and lifted skyward. He was found 150 feet away with injuries from which he will die.

Frank Brambly and his family huddled in their cellar while their house was lifted from its foundation and carried several rods. The ruins caught fire and were consumed.

IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA.

Rain, Wind, and Lightning Cause Heavy Loss—Johnstown Under Water.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—Western Pennsylvania was visited by an unusual rain, wind, and electric storm yesterday morning. Great damage was done and at least two lives were lost. In this city a number of houses were struck by lightning and several persons stunned, but not seriously injured. The rain fell in torrents for several hours, flooding cellars and causing small streams to overflow.

At West Elizabeth two children of George Beattie, a boy and girl, aged 7 years, were drowned on their way to school while crossing a foot log over Lobb's run. The little girl lost her footing and fell in the water and her brave little twin brother in trying to rescue her lost his life also.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 10.—A large part of the town is flooded, but at 7 o'clock the highest point seems to have been reached. The water has been running over the banks of the Conemaugh ever since noon and the whole borough of Woodvale is now flooded to a depth of from two to four feet. In one section about twenty dwellings are under water and two houses have been floated from their foundations. The large Red Cross dormitory in this borough is surrounded by water, but no serious damage is expected.

IN THE SOUTH.

Death and Destruction Follow in the Wake of a Storm.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 10.—Yesterday afternoon Columbus was visited by a fierce cyclone, which came from the Alabama side and swept over the city with terrific velocity. The shaft over the electric-light company's building was blown over, crushing through the roof and damaging the machinery. One man had a narrow escape. The electric lights were extinguished last night. Some houses were unroofed and a number of signs blown down. The wind was followed by heavy rain and hail. The storm was very severe in east Alabama.

ROANOKE, Va., April 10.—The greatest tornado for many years passed over this city last evening. The cast house at the Crozier iron furnace was blown down and three laborers killed and one mortally wounded. Loss to the furnace company, $5,000. Nearly one hundred dwellings in course of erection were completely demolished. The Salem furnace was blown down, a heavy loss being reported, and buildings in that vicinity were reduced to ruins.

Four Killed by a Fall of Rock.

WEBB CITY, Mo., April 10.—Three boys, Ed Severn, A. D. Gammon, a son of Mrs. Stoner, and a man named Joe Wright were killed yesterday afternoon by the falling of a slab of rock on them. They were digging lead out of the side of a mine and Wright was standing on the rock. The bodies of the boys have not been recovered.

Rescued a Ship's Crew.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—The steamship Cuba, at this port from Bluefields, brought the captain and eight of the crew of the bark Hermasand from Port Natal for Progreso. The bark struck on Morani Key March 2, and became a total loss.

Flint Glass Advanced Five Cents.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—At a meeting of the Western Flint-Glass association here prices were advanced in various classes of goods 5 cents, to meet the heavy advance made in soda ash recently.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves,

Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food, so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatism tendencies and affection of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

A $50.00 outfit will be furnished on 30 day's time to the first responsible agent that applies for it, with a guarantee of $150.00 profit in four weeks or no pay. Exclusive control of your county given. Something new and with great possibilities. We prove our responsibility. Address at once, with stamp, A. B. JARVIS & Co., Racine, Wis.

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures unheard of and unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get and after you have read it, think it over. Anything that concerns your business is of interest to you. We do not ask you to advertise in our paper, nor in any other papers; we only state the fact that success in advertising depends like any other success in knowing how to do it. Experience is a mighty good thing, but then, you are not to try the 16,000 and odd papers published in this country, for if you do you will sack your safe before you know the a. b. c. of the science of advertising, for science it is, the advertising on a large or small scale. It is more economic, more profitable, and a great deal wiser to ascertain yourself which paper or set of papers will bring the best result for the same amount of money. The PRINTERS' INK is the paper in which you will learn the long and short of the story. It has no interest in having your 'ad.' in one paper rather than another. It is independent, well informed and truthful. If you advertise at all, whether for one dollar, or for one thousand, or for one million of dollars a year, you will miss your road if, not knowing it you do not inquire of the advertiser's guide, and thinking you know it, you take a sinuous pathway and get at the goal at the eve of death. We will send the PRINTERS' INK and the "Daily Gazette," to any advertiser who will prove himself to be such, for one year, for the price of one: that is for six dollars. Address:

What is a mercantile "discount?"
When a merchant buys goods of a wholesaler in the great city, he secures a reduction or 'discount' from the bill, of from 5 to 25 per cent., according to the kind of goods he is buying and the margin of profit there is in them—IF HE PAYS CASH DOWN.
If he cannot pay cash down but remits in 10 days, he receives almost as much discount; if he pay not till 30 days, he receives still less discount, and if he pay not till 60 days he receives none. So the thriving merchant discounts every bill as it comes. But to do so he must have ready cash, and he can get it only as he receives it from customers, or as he loans it to himself as working capital. If all paid cash, they would furnish the merchant the ready money to take every discount; and just so far as they do not pay cash, in just so far they compel the merchant to advance himself the money to pay his bills, which money he could put out at interest, and earn 6, 7 or 8 per cent. on the loan.
We have now gone to the a-b-c of explanation of the discount business and why all merchants desire to change credit custom to cash trade. While it would be simple JUSTICE, yet they can not have two prices—one for credit and a lower one for cash; this would lead to ill-will, they must name the same price to all alike, and then, not as a gift or a present but simply because it is deserved, they can make a favoring discrimination to the cash buyer.
Some of your merchants have made large purchases and special contracts for the great Encyclopædia Britannica, and propose to give to each cash buyer this work. They do not pretend to be "giving something for nothing"—such a statement would be false on its face; they are simply paying back to each customer HIS SHARE of the discounts, in a commodity bought three times cheaper than any of you, buying singly, could get it. This is the philosophy and plan on which Messrs. Burns & Boland and A C Munger are enabled to offer an exact reproduction, page, word and letter, uncondensed and unabridged, latest revision of the great Encyclopædia—a faithful copy of the $216 Edinburgh edition, more durably bound than any book (save the Teacher's Bibles) to-day in your town.
They also have secured the exclusive privilege of sale, at a price which will astound you. Come and see.

THE WINDS OF HEAVEN.

Throw open wide the casement of thy soul,
And let the winds of heaven blow fresh within,
And sweep away upon their mighty wings
The stifling breath of self, the dust of sin.

Wait thou, and feel these fragrant winds of truth;
They bring rare token of that world by thee
Too little known they drop great hints of space.
So stirring ever larger sympathy.

O watch their coming! From each precious waft,
Thou fuller life and higher strength shall win;
So open wide the casement of thy soul,
And let the winds of heaven blow fresh within.

A STRANGE MARRIAGE.

A pale, terrified face, a pair of dark, startled eyes and a girlish figure in a swaying shell of a boat, which was hurrying onward to the swirling falls below.

That was what John Cristowell saw as he parted the willow boughs and stood on the bank of the rapid little river.

"Help! oh, help!"

The cry somehow thrilled his heart as no other voice ever had.

"Courage!" he shouted back and the next moment he had plunged into the foaming waters and was making his way with rapid strokes toward the helpless little boat.

A single glance told him what the trouble was; one of the oars had been lost overboard, and, in her fright and bewilderment the girl was incapable of managing her little craft.

But what her frail strength had found impossible was an easy enough task for his strong and skillful hand, and very soon he had landed his fair charge safely on the shore.

"I should like to know the name of my rescuer," she said, with a shy, half-timid glance from beneath her dark lashes.

"John Cristowell, now and always at your service, Miss Livingston," he said, smiling slightly as he lifted his hat with an air which expressed at once both pride and deference.

He lingered a moment looking after the fragile, graceful form as it vanished down the wooded path in the direction of the great, gray stone mansion beyond the trees.

"So that is Verna Livingston, the heiress to more than a round million," he soliloquized. "What a sweet, childish, wistful little face she has, and I thought it had a touch of sadness, too. But I suppose that was the result of her fright and danger on the river. Well, well!"—with a little laugh as he shook the water from his short, curling hair—"what business have I to be dreaming of pretty heiresses? There is a line as fixed as fate between their station and my own—a line which I, for one, do not care to cross, and it is not likely that chance will ever throw me in her path again."

Contrary to his expectations, chance did throw him, not infrequently, in the young heiress' pathway. She always had a pleasant nod and smile for him when they met, but John Cristowell noticed that the sweet, delicate face was always pale and wistful looking, and there was an indefinable sadness in the glance of her soft, dark eyes which haunted him for hours after each one of those chance meetings.

"Is she unhappy?" was the question that began to trouble him.

And slumbering in his heart, half unknown to himself, was a silent purpose to hold himself in readiness, as a true knight, to aid and protect her, should she ever again require his services.

Walking along the road which skirted the willow-bordered stream, in the early dusk one evening, he was startled by the abrupt appearance of Miss Livingston directly in his path, her lovely face whiter than ever he had seen it before, her great soft, dark eyes full of a terror impossible to describe.

"I have been waiting for you," she began in low, rapid tones, not giving him time to express in words the astonishment that was written on his face. "You—you once said you would help me, Mr. Cristowell?"

"And I meant it, too, Miss Livingstone," he returned, with quiet firmness. "Tell me how I can serve you."

"Listen!" she exclaimed, her voice so fluttering and so uneven that he had to bend lower to catch its faint accents. "For months I have been persecuted and haunted until life has become almost a horror to me. They are trying to force me into a marriage with—with one whom I loathe and detest with all my soul. I would rather die, and yet I—I am afraid. I am not strong enough to resist them always, and——"

She stopped, turning her face away, for its pallor was lost now in a burning flood of shame—the hottest that had eyer scorched those dainty cheeks.

"If only there was some barrier," she went on, after that brief, strange silence, casting a strange, appalling look into the young man's wondering face, "something that the law could interpose between myself and the man I hate. And there is only one way——"

Again she paused with crimson cheek and drooping eyes, but this time John Cristowell spared her the shame of speaking further.

"I can scarcely credit my senses," he said, in a half-bewildered way; "yet if I mistake not, you are asking my protection against this hated marriage, and there is only way in which I could protect you—that is to—make—you—my—wife. Have I understood you, Miss Livingston?"

She bowed her head slowly without speaking, without even lifting her eyes from the shadowy ground.

"Do you realize what you are asking?" he went on, his voice husky and strained with the intensity of his feelings. "I am a stranger to you, and a poor man—as far below you in social station as——"

"That is nothing," interrupted the young heiress. "I know of you, John Cristowell; I know that you are honest, brave—a man to be trusted. And all I ask is a legal barrier between me and marriage to which death itself were a thousand times preferable. Beyond that I never looked—never cared——"

"It shall be as you wish it," he interrupted quietly, though something like a thrill of pain sounded in his husky tones. Fortunately it is in my power to serve you, and that is all the happiness I ask. If you have fully resolved upon such a step, I—I am ready at any moment. The parsonage is not far off. Shall we go now, Miss Livingston?"

With a swift, sweet look of gratitude which thrilled him to the very core of his heart, Verna Livingston turned and laid her small white hand on his arm.

"Yes, now," she whispered hurriedly. "Until I know that I am placed safely beyond their power I cannot breathe freely. But wait," she added, stopping abruptly in their walk, as if a sudden thought had flashed upon her mind. "There's one thing you ought to know. This step may cost me my fortune; they have threatened to deprive me of every dollar of it unless I yield to their will. So it may prove to be a penniless girl instead of an heiress whom you are—befriending, Mr. Cristowell."

A swift, proud gesture, full of scornful indifference, was John Cristowell's only answer, as he drew the little, jeweled hand protectingly within his arm and hastened to the little parsonage.

A half-hour later they came forth from the cheery parlor where that bright light shone, and, clasped tightly in one fair hand, Verna Cristowell held her marriage certificate—that precious talisman which was henceforth to be her weapon of defense against her persecutors.

At the spot where she had waited for him earlier in the evening John Cristowell parted from his bride.

"You are safe now, whatever comes," he said, taking the little hand which she shyly offered, and holding it tightly, yet tenderly in his own. "They can't force you into that union now, and as for me—well," with a slight, queer little smile trembling about the corners of his handsome mouth, "I am going away again for a long stay—you know my business often calls me to distant places—and I shall never trouble in any way, never seek to claim you as my wife unless it shall be your own free will and wish. And I cannot wish for that," he added, with an unconscious sigh. "But if you should ever need me you have only to send me one word and I will leave everything to come and protect you. And now—Verna—my wife—good-by!"

He bent and touched his lips reverently to the right hand that still rested in his clasp, then wheeled about and disappeared in the darkness before she could reply to him if she wished.

Months passed ere John Cristowell again turned his face homeward. His strange marriage was still a secret, locked sacredly in his inmost heart.

How constantly he had thought of his fair young bride, and how passionately he had grown to love her, he had not himself realized until he turned into the old familiar road which led past her stately home to his far more humble one.

"She is mine, and yet how distant, how inaccessible!" he muttered, as his eyes lingered wistfully on the gray stone towers he was passing. "She will never learn to love me; to her I am nothing save the useful barrier that stands between her and danger. Ah, well, my love is great enough to ——Hello! what's the meaning of that, I wonder?"

A bright light in his own little cottage, farther down the road, at that instant caught his eye.

John Cristowell quickened his steps and knocked at the door with an anxiously beating heart.

It opened, and there, in the soft, warm glow of the shaded lamp, she stood before him, lovely, smiling bewilderingly, in the sweet light that irridiated her pretty face.

"John!" she exclaimed, giving him her hand, with the lovelist blush in the world. "Welcome home!"

"Verna—my wife, my darling—what does this mean?" he questioned huskily, as he stepped inside the charming little parlor.

"It means that the danger is past, John; that I am of age now, and mistress of my own actions. And that my fortune, which proved to be in my own right, is still mine—and yours, too, now my husband"—leaning her graceful form lightly against his arm with a shy, sweet, intoxicating glance into his kindling eyes. "And then—then I came here and took my rightful place in my husband's home, to wait; as patiently as I could, for his return, because I—I——"

"You learned to love me, Verna," he broke in passionately, as he caught her in his arms—"to love me, as I loved you, darling, from the moment my eyes first rested on your face!"

"Yes—but my love dates from the hour of that strange marriage, John—when I first understood the nobleness and generosity of the man who was willing to sacrifice his life's happiness to mine."

AGAINST THE LITCHFIELDS.

Decision in the Iowa Land Cases by a United States Court.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 10.—As a preliminary movement in the case of the government against the Des Moines Valley Navigation & Railway company, their heirs and assigns, to quiet the title to the thousands of acres of land now held and worked by settlers all through the counties of Boone, Hamilton, and Webster, the attorneys for the Litchfields, who are the title-holders of these lands, brought an action against the treasurers of those counties to prevent them from collecting the taxes, amounting to $5,000 and upward, in each of the counties until the matter is settled in the United States District court here in June.

The request for the injunction was argued before Judges Shiras and Love at Council Bluffs and resulted in the rendering of an opinion against the Litchfields on the grounds that the title to the land held by the Litchfields is a lawful one and that they should pay the taxes on their own possessions. The case in June will come before the same court and the same judges and is to determine the title to the lands, but this preliminary decision indicates clearly what may be expected, and is received as being conclusive and final. The opinion has just been filed in the District court at Fort Dodge.

COL. E. B. KNOX DEAD.

The Well-Known Veteran Expires Suddenly at His Home in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Col. E. B. Knox, for so many years at the head of the First regiment, died suddenly last night at his residence, No. 17 Oak avenue.

E. B. Knox was born in Maine about fifty-two years ago, and came to Chicago before the war. He early developed marked talents for military matters, and naturally was an admirer of the gallant and enthusiastic Ellsworth, and became a member of his famous Zouaves, in which he was elected second sergeant.

When the war broke out and Col. Ellsworth organized his famous Fire Brigade in New York, Knox was one of the six members of his Chicago company who joined him there and were made first lieutenants. He served throughout the war with credit, and at its close joined the regular army and served several years in the West, when he was retired on a pension on account of wounds received in the service. In 1870 he returned to Chicago to make his home.

Big Deal in Southern Lands.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 10.—One of the largest mineral and timber land deals ever made in this section has just been concluded, in which Jed Hottkiss of Staunton, Va., transfers to Low, Aspinwall & Co., for $450,000 about one hundred thousand acres of land in Lincoln and Wyoming counties.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The stock market this morning exhibited the same dullness which has been the chief characteristic of the dealings for so long a time, but there was none of the firmness of yesterday's market, and a slow sagging of prices took place. First prices as a rule were slightly lower than last night's figures. The subsequent movements were in no case for more than slight fractions and generally in the downward direction. At 11 o'clock the market was very dull and steady but generally at first prices. A rumor that the funding bill was to be passed to-morrow made Union Pacific active at advancing prices after 11 o'clock, but its improvement was only ½ per cent, and the movements in other stocks were confined to the same limits as during the first hour, except in United States Express, which declined from 87 to 85. The market at noon was dull and steady, but at slight fractions below the opening prices.

Don't Feel Well,

And yet you are not sick enough to consult a doctor, or you refrain from so doing for fear you will alarm yourself and friends—we will tell you just what you need. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will lift you out of that uncertain, uncomfortable, dangerous condition, into a state of good health, confidence and cheerfulness. You've no idea how potent this peculiar medicine is in cases like yours.

"Dr. F. B. Brewer makes a 'specialty' of all chronic diseases. As such specialist we believe Dr. Brewer is without a rival in the northwest. We judge by what he has done in the past and we know that he has met with almost uniform success, curing cases of long standing, cases that have been aggravated by incorrect treatment at the hands of professedly able practitioners. He has made his visits regularly for years, and no complaint has been made of his treatment, on the contrary those who have been treated by him are his warmest admirers. In fact Doctor Brewer is an educated, far seeing, shrewd practitioner and withal a gentleman in the best sense of the word."

We can cheerfully commend him to those who have ceased to hope, and to all who fear a possibly incurable case."

Dr. Brewer visits this city on Thursday the 17th of April and may be found at the Park House for consultation free.

Scratched 28 Years
Body Covered with Scales. Itching terrible. Suffering endless. No relief. Doctors and medicines fail. Speedily Cured by Cuticura at a cost of $5.
If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in spots not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took ... and ... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura remedies too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases,") but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty eight years, and it got to be a second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times.

A Uniform Tariff.

To the Editor.

It is pleasant to see you looking "a leedle oudt" for the tariff tinkers now assembled in Washington. If the cattle barons demand only 15 per cent protection they are too modest for that crowd. Hadn't the country better gratify the cattle men or cow boys, give what they demand, and "let the tail go with the hide" as customary in that trade. The price of cattle, just now, is no great thing, even with the head, horns, tail and hoofs all on. If you will turn back, in the files of your paper, to a period shortly before the war, you will find hides quoted in your Janesville market report at 14 to 15 cents a pound. In that day, say about March 4th, 1857, the hide was selling in our market for enough to pay for a likely yearling steer, at the present writing.

Let us look further, and see what prices governed the market for other products of our industries, on March 4th, 1857, I find spring and club wheat, 81 cents to 85 cent; white winter, 95 cents to $1; corn, 42 to 44 cents; oats quick at 38 to 40 cents; barley, $1.35 to $1.45 for good; hogs, $7.75 to $8.25; hay, timothy, $10; prairie hay $8, etc., etc.

At that time, our tariff was so justly and equitably arranged, that no one sought to find fault with it. The whole country was united in its support and maintainance. No political party dared to propose a scheme to "tinker" the tariff

Why not, at this time, "all hands" move for the enactment of a "judicious tariff" such as Andrew Jackson advised.

Every man must say, if he speaks from the promptings of his sense of justice and conscience, that a tariff should be equal in its results or effects toward all sections of our country.

It is not likely that any plan for raising a governmental revenue, much different from the present, will be devised or established for a quarter of a century to come. Let us then have a just, fair and reasonably uniform tariff.

MATRIMONIAL.

Sabin-Palmer.

This afternoon at 115 Madison street, this city, in the presence of immediate relatives, was solemnized the marriage of Miss Stella E. Palmer, the eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Palmer, and Mr. Sidney A. Sabin, of Belvidere, Illinois. Miss Palmer is one of Janesville's most accomplished young ladies, recently graduated from Rockford seminary, a leader in church and society matters, and her position in our midst will be a difficult one to fill. The groom is one of the leading young business men of Belvidere; at present in the dry good's business in that city.

At just three o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal party entered the parlors, forming themselves before Rev. Dr. Hodge, who, using the impressive Episcopal service, pronounced them man and wife. After the wedding and congratulations, the guests were served with an elaborate wedding supper. The bride was attired in a simple dress of white faille, and carried a boquet of bride's roses. There were about fo s present, among them the following from abroad: Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Sabin, of Belvidere, father and mother of the groom, E. F. Sabin and wife, of Chicago; F. W. They Will Inaugurate Their Club Parties Again.

The first social dancing party to be given by the Terpsichorean club will be held on next Monday evening April 14th at Columbia hall. This will be good news to the members of the club as they have the name of extracting more fun from the canvassed floor of Columbia hall and Smith & Anderson's orchestra than any social club in the city.

SHE DID OBJECT

To Her Husband Attending Dances Where He "Was Not Expected."

There was a lively little dance up in the first ward last night. There was a general flow of soul and whiskey and all of the participants enjoyed themselves greatly. One married man attended against the wishes of his better half and she came after him. Marshal Hogan also took a hand and compelled the wayward husband to desist and accompany her home.

Horticultural Notes.

Test your seeds before sowing.

Gradually uncover the beds of bulbs.

Whitewash the trees or wash them with lye,

Burn all rubbish; use the ashes for manure.

Start tomato plants early, also early cabbage.

Are you shure there are no wastes going on in your garden.

Start the plants in the hot-bed or in a pan in the south window.

Have all seeds and grain for sowing ready before the time to use.

Don't plant the wrinkled varieties of peas till the ground is warm.

A little well tilled is more profitable than much poorly tilled.

A solution of tobacco soap will keep the aphis away from honeysuckles.

If a fruit shipper, have you made arrangements for this year's supply?

"Snide" packages don't help to sell fruit, neither do shabby, poorly made ones.

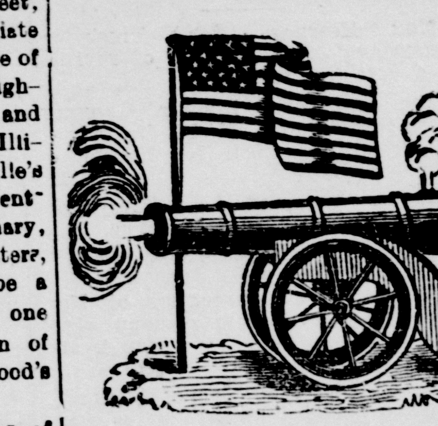
Fix up the front fence, clean up the corners, and don't have stock in the door yard.

Peas, lettuce, radishes, and onions from seed will stand quite a freeze. Get some in early.

Get in a few seeds early, then if frost comes late the loss will not be so great, if there is no late frost you will have some early vegetables.

A $50.00 outfit will be furnished on 30 day's time to the first responsible agent that applies for it, with a guarantee of $150.00 profit in four weeks or no pay. Exclusive control of your county given. Something new and with great possibilities. We prove our responsibility. Address at once, with stamp, A. B. JARVIS & Co., Racine, Wis.

BOOM FOR JANESVILLE.



Attend the Meeting This Evening at the Business Men's Association.

THE LOTS NEARLY ALL SOLD AT NOON TO-DAY.

Something New May Come to the Surface at the Meeting This Evening.

The special committee to whom the matter was referred will make their report in regard to the new manufacturing industries this evening, an adjourned meeting to be held at the rooms of the Business Men's Association for this purpose. All interested in the enterprise are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Something further concerning the "Unknown Addition" may come to the surface. The grand industrial procession is about to move forward in this city. Let all the people fall into line and keep step to the music.

President C. S. Jackman, of the Business Men's Association, who is acting as the agent of the party making the proposition, assures the Gazette that the proposition as made is intended to be fair and square; no fraud of any kind attached; that the lots are 4x8 rods in size and will be located in the addition named for the factories. This ought to be sufficient guarantee for all.

The Gazette regrets the many stories circulated by parties wholly given over to sectional prejudices, and also the report that the proposition comes from a syndicate for the sole purpose of making money. Such is not the case. The whole affair is for the purpose of advancing the manufacturing interests of our city. It makes no difference whether there be one or twenty men interested in the movement, the results are what the people of Janesville should aim at.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

They Entertain Their Friends at the Armory Last Evening.

Last evening the Light Infantry armory presented a very different appearance from what it has during the last month or so. The pure white light of the electric lamps streamed out the windows and far into the night. The occasion of all this change was, that the Oriental Lodge No. 22 Knights of Pythias were celebrating their twelfth anniversary of the establishment of this Lodge by giving a complimentary party to their friends and families. At eight o'clock the carriages began to flit here and there and deposit their fair burdens at the hall. Soon the floor was crowded with merry dancers, the bright and many colored dresses of the ladies contrasting nicely with the sombre black dress suits of the gentlemen. The company room was arranged for a gentlemen's dressing room, and here, those who did not desire to dance, played cinch or whist, and smoked their "fragrant Havanas."

All the arrangements were perfection, and Smith & Anderson's orchestra consisting of six pieces never played better. The attendance was very large, nearly every one of the favored five hundred who received invitations responding thereto. The dancers held high carnival until twelve o'clock when Mr. M. G. Jeffris announced that there would be an intermission of thirty minutes to enable them to get supper. After which the music again struck up and continued until three o'clock. It was the most successful party of the year, and when the music stopped many expressions of regret were heard.

The committee of arrangements, consisting of Messrs. E. D. McGowan, T. S. Nolan, E. B. Heimstreet, O. O. Ford and L. H. Becker, are largely accountable for this, and to their untiring efforts can be laid the success of the party.

The floor committee consisted of Messrs. H. G. Carter, J. A. Sutherland, A. P. Burnham, H. V. Allen, A. L. Scholler and W. P. Sayles.

The reception committee was composed of Messrs. O. H. Fethers, A. P. Lovejoy, Fenner Kimball, George C. McLean, S. B. Smith, J. M. Bostwick, E. M. Hyzer and John Thoroughgood.

THE VOTE CANVASSED.

Adjourned Meeting of the Council—the City Vote Canvassed—Health Officer Palmer's Report.

An adjourned meeting of the common council was held last evening, His Honor, Mayor St. John, presiding, all the aldermen being present except Aldermen Casey, Horn, McLean and Thoroughgood.

The special business of the meeting was the canvassing of the vote of the recent city election, and declaring the result.

Ald. Baker, of the judiciary committee, to whom the returns had been referred for examination, made the report of the committee, specifying the persons elected. On his motion the report was adopted and the clerk directed to notify all such persons of the result and request that they file their bonds by Monday next.

[The report embraced substantially the same result as that published in the Gazette the day after election.]

JANESVILLE, Wis., April 9, 1890.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville:

In accordance with the provision of the city charter, I have the honor to present the following, in relation to the health and sanitary condition of the city of Janesville.

I am happy to state that the period for which this report is made has been one of remarkable freedom from any extensive outbreak of any contagious disease. During this time there has been eight (8) cases of scarlet fever and several cases of measles and whooping cough, but none of which proved fatal; and two cases of diphtheria, imported from Chicago, and both cases resulting in death. By prompt report of contageous diseases by the physicians attending them and rigid quarantine, the diseases have been confined to the families where they originated.

In relation to the sanitary conditions of the city, from May 16, 1889 to April 9, 1890.

Complaints entered	77
Orders issued	73
Orders for removing ashes, garbage and offensive material of all kinds from the rear or in front of the buildings mentioned, and keeping the same free of such	49
Orders to cease butchering in the shops	12
Orders to remove all offensive material from the slaughter house, and to keep it from being a nuisance	12

The slaughter houses which were situated in the fourth ward, were a source of annoyance and nuisance for many years, but at last, the common council aided by the residents of the fourth ward, succeeded in having them moved outside of the city limits.

Our city having a population of about 12,000, is supplied with a system of water works, for which there are over 600 subscribers. Many of these subscribers are using their wells as vaults and building cess pools, which are not only faulty in construction, but are in localities where they will surely contaminate the water of those who rely on their wells and cisterns for their water supply. Measures to protect the public health from such a source of injury, should be inaugurated as early as possible, for it will not be long before a great many more of these sinks will be built, as the number of consumers of the water supply is constantly increaseing which will render a properly constructed system of sewerage a matter of public necessity. Some of the alley ways in the city have caused much labor to keep them in a good sanitary condition. This is the result of there being no place to deposit garbage or filth and the alleyways in consequence become the ordinary receptacle for all refuse material. In order to relieve the city of this nuisance, I would recommend the passage of the following or similar ordinance.

That it shall be the duty of every owner, tenant, lessee, and occupant of any and every house, dwelling, building or place of business within the fire limits of the city of Janesville, forthwith to provide, or cause to be provided, and at all times thereafter to keep and use and be kept and provided and used in the alleyway connected with such house, dwelling, building or place of business or other place on such premises convenient for delivery to scavenger, suitable and sufficient vessels for receiving and holding without leakage and without being filled to within four inches of the top thereof, all the ashes, rubbish, garbage and liquid substance of whatever kind may accumulate from said building or place of business, or the portions thereof of which persons may be the owner, tenant, lessee or occupant.

That every vessel for the deposit of ashes may be of iron with a suitable cover of the same material.

The separate suitable vessels convenient for handling shall be provided and used by all hotels, restaurants and other places where the refuse materials or accumulations are liquid substances.

During the year, the expenditures for the improvement of the sanitary condition of the city, under the supervision of the health officer have been as follows:

To Gazette Printing Co., May 8, 1889, 500 orders for Board of Health	$ 5 00
May 14, 1889, 50 half-sheet placards	3 50
Nov. 19, 1889, advertisements "to clean up, etc" notice for five (5) days	4 00
To John Brennan, Aug. 26, 1889, to two days' labor, Aug. 16 and 17, 1889, in cleaning around the slaughter house	6 00
To Recorder Printing Co, Nov. 19, 1889, advertisement "to clean up, etc.," 18 lines, five (5) times	4 50
Postage, (containing disease notices to eighteen doctors)	36
Report book	35
Total amount	$23 71

W. H. PALMER, Health Officer.

On motion of Ald. Jackman the council adjourned until Monday evening of next week, April 14th, at 7:30 o'clock, to approve the bonds of the incoming officers.

MILTON.

Interesting News Items and Personal Mention from the Old Town.

The school social at the North ward school building last Friday evening, was one of a series of similar gatherings which are being held for the purpose of creating a school library. Prof. Curtis is an earnest worker for the school, and his labors are being appreciated by the officers and patrons of the school. He has succeeded in raising the grade of the high school department to a full four-year course, which course was not only approved but commended by the state superintendent. The work of the school has steadily progressed under Mr. Curtis' direction, not only in the thoroughness in which the branches are taught, but in many other features which enter into the proper education of the rising generation. Among the latter is the furnishing of social entertainments for the pupils, and at the same time providing a library of good books, in which the pupils are more interested, from having assisted in purchasing it.—Waupun Leader.

Quite a few are inquiring after last week's items and the jotter. We did not suppose we would have been missed at all. All we have to offer as an explanation is: It was election week, and a fellow that's up for office must hustle around, buy what votes he can, shake with strangers, and smile on everyone over 21 years of age. All this had to be done to save us from the soup. (Which by the way we neatly got into.) But at last the awful suspense is over, our respiration is normal, pulse more steady, and we will try not to let it happen again.

Our young people who gave the musical entertainment at Johnstown Center last week, wish to thank the citizens of that place, who so kindly assisted in arranging matters for them, and for the hospitality shown them at that time.
